Hi! Guys, remember me

Grovel !! Grovel !! Grovel !! Grovel !! Grovel !! Grovel !! Grovel !!
Sorry !! Sorry !! Sorry !! Sorry !! Sorry !! Sorry !! Sorry !!

Enough govvelling crap, and a big open-armed 'Hi!' Sammy Joe, and the rest of the Lost Boys, it's me MUG "I'll write you an article" U.K. !!

Yep! I have unearthed myself from the home-made tomb that I have been living in for the last three months !!

I have almost finished the 'Professional Virus Killer v2.0' now, and hopefully it will be released in the near future at the incredibly stupid price of £3.95 !! It can recognise some 370 different bootsectors and do lots of things that I have been bug-hunting until they are free !!

I enclose a disk for your P.D. Library, and it has a copy of all the stuff that I've ever written that is Public Domain. It also has a very new program on it, 'TCB Tracker Demo Creator' !!

The demo-creator is pretty boring stuff, but I have written it for those people who are musicians and NOT programmers - so don't slag it off too much Michael !!

I hope you have forgiven me for my silence and non-existent articles but, I have been very busy coding left, right and bloody centre !!!

I need a big "ass-kissing, you're wonderful, Gods Gift to GFA BASIC" hand with my cheat routines. I need some new 'Mad Max' music !!! The ones I have got are very old and VERY boring to listen to !! How did you get the tunes in 'Maggie 2.0' to work ??? Can you send me some source code to use them in GFA BASIC. It doesn't matter if they are packed with the ICE Packer because that is how I store my music already. I just decompact them to an address and then call that address - simple isn't it !! If you can possibly help me - please do !! Any form of GFA BASIC source to show me how to use the newer and much, much nicer Mad Max music would be most helpful !!

Look forward to your reply,

Mee
